

emily walker manetta

Assistant Professor of Linguistics
University of Vermont

Department of Anthropology, Program in Linguistics
509 Williams Hall
72 University Place
Burlington, VT 04505
USA

Email: emily.manetta@uvm.edu

Research Interests: Comparative Syntax of Indic Languages (especially Hindi-Urdu and Kashmiri); Wh-movement and the A-bar system; Rightward scrambling and complementation; Indic verbal complexes (causatives, passives)

Curriculum Vitae [pdf]

current projects

Peripheries in Kashmiri and Hindi-Urdu (book)

2011. John Benjamins. [publishers site]

Rightward Scrambling in Hindi-Urdu

to appear, Linguistic Inquiry 43:1, 43-74. [pdf]

Wh-expletives in Hindi-Urdu: the vP phase

2010. Linguistic Inquiry 41 (1). [pdf]

The causative verbal domain and the Kashmiri causative

To appear. Syntax. 2012. [pdf]

Unexpected Left Dislocation: an English Corpus Study

2007. Journal of Pragmatics 39 (5). [pdf]

Dissertation: Peripheries in Kashmiri and Hindi-Urdu

University of California, Santa Cruz (June 2006)

New Projects and Downloads

Handouts, manuscripts, Anthropology writing and older Linguistics downloads

teaching and other interests

LING 166/ANTH 142 Syntax

ANTH 028/LING 028 Introduction to Linguistic Anthropology

ANTH 276 Advanced Topics in Linguistics

Philosophy of Teaching

Vermont Amateur Soccer League